HON. GREGORY SORBARA
MINISTER

GLENN R. THOMPSON
DEPUTY MINISTER

FOREWORD

This is the twenty-second annual report of the Ontario Ministry of Labour on collective bargaining agreement expirations. It describes the extent of collective bargaining activity in Ontario for renewal of agreements scheduled to expire in 1989.

The data in this report are derived from information available in the Ministry's Collective Agreements Library as of December 30, 1988 and identify all 1989 bargaining situations known to the Ministry at that date. They do no include situations that will result from recent and future certifications by the Ontario Labour Relations Board, and new agreements that were not yet signed when the report was completed.

The report consists of five tables. Part A of Table 1 shows the total number of all agreements expiring by industry and month of expiration; and Part B shows the number of employees who will be affected. Table 2 gives a distribution of the total expirations by industry and size of bargaining unit. Table 3 shows the total number of all agreements expiring and employees involved by union and month of expiration. Table 4 lists only those agreements covering 200 or more employees by month of expiration; and Table 5 lists them by industry.

Appendix I lists the major agreements (those covering 1,000 or more employees) expiring in 1989. Appendix II explains the SIC (Standard Industrial Classification) used in Tables 4 and 5.

The report was prepared in the Office of Collective Bargaining Information, Industrial Relations Division, Ontario Ministry of Labour.

ONTARIO COLLECTIVE BARGAINING
AGREEMENT EXPIRATIONS, 1989

Introduction

Fewer collective agreements are scheduled to expire in 1989 than in the past three years. About 2,677 agreements, covering 351,786 employees, will be renegotiated in 1989, compared to 3,455 agreements and 539,780 employees in 1988. (See Tables 1A and 1B.)

The 1989 expiries represent 28% of the 9,585 agreements on file in the Ministry of Labour's Collective Agreements Library as of December 30, 1988 and affect 25% of the 1,403,029 total Ontario employees covered by agreements.

In terms of the number of employees affected, the upcoming negotiations will be concentrated in education and related services, transportation equipment, communication, transportation, health and welfare services, fabricated metals, and local government. The major situations are listed in Appendix I.

Economic Setting

The Ontario economy continued to grow strongly in 1988 for the sixth consecutive year of positive performance. Expectations for 1989 are for another year of growth, but at a slower pace than in 1988.

The strength of the economy was reflected in the low unemployment figures for the province. The unemployment rate for Ontario hovered around 5% for most of the year, the lowest level since 1974. The construction industry in particular was booming, and wage package settlements well above the average wage increase were the result. Latest figures for all Canada show that in the manufacturing sector, plants were utilized at above 80% of capacity for the first two quarters of 1988, as in 1987.

Inflation in Ontario outpaced Canada as a whole, rising from 4.4% per year in January to 5.2% by November 1988 compared to 4.1% per year for Canada in January and again in November. At the same time, interest rates rose steadily through 1988 to reach the levels of early 1986.

Under collective agreements covering 200 or more Ontario employees, negotiated wage increases in settlements ratified in the first quarter of 1988 averaged 3.8% per year, rose to 5.1% for settlements ratified in the second quarter, primarily due to the impact of the construction industry settlements, and averaged 4.5% for the third quarter settlements. The bargaining for stronger money packages that characterized 1988 is likely to continue into 1989.

As in the past few years, workers' demands in 1989 will include improvements to pension plans and more job security. In 1988, there were fewer one-year agreements than in the past, and that trend may continue into 1989. Other factors relevant to the labour relations environment in 1989 are the implementation of pay equity and adjustment to the introduction of free trade.

Monthly Activity

As in other years, the most common expiration date for collective agreements is December, followed by March. These two months account for 37% of the total expirations and 22 percent of the employees affected. In August, agreements for a further 30% of the total employees, primarily elementary and secondary school teachers, will expire. The lightest month, in terms of expiring agreements is July when 92 agreements expire, and is November with 10,715 employees in terms of employees affected.

Industry Activity

Bargaining in manufacturing industries will affect 121,802 employees, working primarily in transportation equipment, fabricated metals, food and beverage, printing and publishing and electrical products. These five industrial sectors account for 562 of the 1,088 agreements expiring in manufacturing and 54% of the 121,802 employees.

Nearly two-thirds of all employees with agreements expiring in 1989 work in non-manufacturing jobs, and nearly one-half of these jobs are in education. Bargaining activity will also be heavy in transportation and communication, wholesale and retail trade, health and welfare services, and local government.
